NEW YORK, April 19.—[By the Associated Press.] The largest and fiercest fire witnessed here for years swept the east bank of the North River clear today from Nigots Statement.] bank of the North River clear today from Ninety-fifth street to what would be Sixty-fifth street if that street ran to the river. It destroyed more than $1,500,000 of property belouging to the New York Central Railroad Company and at least $500,000 worth of lard, flour and the like belonging to others, notably to N. P. Fairbank, the great Chicago lard merchant. The flames destroyed two big elevators of the Vanderbilt system, a big brick building stretching destroyed two big elevators of the Vanderbilt system, a big brick building stretching from Fifty-ninth to Sixtleth street and occupled jointly by the Fairbank lard refinery and the Rossiter stores and wiped out the dock property of the New York Central. Railroad from Fifty-ninth to past Sixty-fifth street.
Henry Benning, a workman in the Fairbank refinery, was killed by a jump from a third-story window. Many others were injured by jumping, but in the contuction attending the configration the names and extent of the injuries of but very tew were obtained.

Itumors were rife all the evening that a number of workmen had been caught and burued in the refinery, but it has been impossible to verify them.

The fire bruke out in the southeast corner of the Fairbank refinery—bow, nobody

To save their lives.

Staircases were columns of flames, and the windows presented the only means of escape. Pursued closely by the fire, the men flung themselves out headlong, and how many there were nobody could tell. Many who came out were picked up and earried away by friends.

The fire had soon swept throughout the length of the building and shot over teward-the big grain elevators of the New York Central Railroad. Between the place where the engines were stationed and the elevators were 37 railroad tracks, which no fire-engine could cross, and next the Union Stock Yards, half a mile of broad inclosure and pens, were equally impassable. There was no way for a fire-engine to reach the-elevators except along Sixtieth street, past the burning buildings, and that street, after two engines had fought their way past, was blocked by failing walls. Furthermore, near the elevators flices was only one small water-pipe. Second st., near Olive. R. Egillion. 22 were sent for, and several of them soon began work in a heroic struggle, to save the elevators, but it was all in vain. The tremendous heat from the fire across the street dried and warped the woodwork of the big frame building under its corrugated-iron sheathing, and in a short time elevator A was on fire and buruing fiercely.

Soon after, the walls of the Rossiter stores feli, releasing tons on tons of burning merchandise, that rolled in blazing heaps in every direction. This increased the heat and flames, and the efforts of the firemen seemed to be entirely useless. About this time the stockyards pens were cleared out.

At 7 o'clock elevator B caught fire and the scene then in the growing darkness had lurid effects that made the spectacle one of awful grandeur. The second elevator was entirely consumed also, and at 11 o'clock tonight, when the fire was gatten under control, the half a mile of ruins sent out a furnace heat.

An estimate of the losses is as follows:
The Rossiter stores, contents, $900,000,
The Wilcox Company, stock, $450,000,
Elevator A, $800,000,
Elevator B, $750,000,
Dock D, contents, $200,000,
Dock A, $85,000,
The Wilcox building, $220,000,
Total, $3,355,000,
The loss to the property of the New York
Central Company is covered by insurance.
The Wilcox Company's stock was insured for $100,000.

Monday night some 40 citizens of the northern part of the country, without the slightest attempt at disguise, surrounded the house of cidid. Without delay they were brought out, stripped to the waist and tied in a row. Then each of the regulators, with a long switch, struck each prisoner a sounding blow. By the time the last blow was given two of the men had fainted and the others were wet with blood. After the whipping the men's legs were given a thick coating of tar and feathers, and they were warned to leave instantly or suffer death. The names of the Mormons are: Ass F. Hixon, J. New York, April 19. The office of the Callendar Insulating and Water-Proofing Company, the failure of which was announced this morning, is closed and the place is in the hands of the Sheriff. Officials deny that their suspension is due to the departure of William Callendar, president and treasurer, for Europe, nor will they admit that he is a defaulter. Creditors think the amount of liabilities will run up to more than $400,000. They do not expect any satisfactory arrangements to be made.

EL PASO (Tex.), April 18.— By the Ass. ciated Press.j Excitement here over the city government trouble still runs high, and an indiscreet word or move might lead to a regular slaughter. Krakauer, the Repub-lican usurper, who took charge of the City Hall yesterday evening with an arme mob, and who was erdered by Judge Faiveye of the District Court to Judge Faiveye of the District Court to surrender all the city property and disperse his mob, was arrested this morning for contempt of court in refusing to disclose the combination of the city safe in which the city record and seal are stored, and the combination of which he changed while in possession of the hall last night.

At 10 o'clock tonight his trial is in progress and the courthouse is crowded with a hundred excited men. If he is sent to jail a row is anticipated.

It was positively learned, this evening that Krakaner has been tendered the services of 300 Mexicans.

The chief of the deputies called out his men to "charge." Each unslung Winchester and they surged forward. There was no response for sew minutes, and the men began to think that dispersed the assailants. They a discovered their mistake. A man pop from behind a log and FIRED AT THEM, and this was the signal for another fusilisds from his friends. He retreated down a ravine just in time to escape the fire of the deputies, who continued to advance and use their repeaters.

Haif way down the ravine the deputies discovered a rough barricade of logs and brush across the entrance, and simultaneously a voice exclaimed: "Now, give it to them, boys."

A SHEET OF FLAME
poured from the barrier. Another of bullets sped toward the officers, had been sufficiently warned, howe-had been sufficiently warred, however, and but one of their number was hit, and his wound was not serious.

The chief deputy ordered a retreat, and gathered his men about him for a council of war. It was evident that the barricade was quite heavily manned, and that a direct assault would prove disastrous. Therefore it was decided to divide the party and attack the flanks of the enemy. This movement brought the deputies directly above the barricade. At a given signal they began shooting from the top of the ravine right into the midst of the boomers, who were utterly unable to defend themselves from such an attack.

able to defend themselves from such an attack.

THIETY TAKEN PHISONER.

Ten minutes of rapid firing ensued, and then a cry for quarter went up from the barricade. "We surrender," shouted a man, when the firing ceased. A hasty advance was made to the fort, and the officers were in charge of 30 prisoners, seven of whom were severely wounded.

Two of these—Thomas Mullins and David Winship—will probably die. Mullins has a builet in his left lung and Winship one in his abdomen. Martin Fallon of Gainesville, Tex., received a ball in his left thigh. John T. White of Ft. Worth was struck in the shoulder. Samuel Dodd of North Carolina has a deep gash in the forehead. Edward Frabishey of Texas suffers from a shattered arm. John Young of Louisiana is about through the shoulder.

The ward and personal property of the boomers we destroyed. The gang were all southerne mostly from Texas, and presented a forth appearance. Their captain, Edward Metosh, said he had been concealed in a ray for three days, and that the party was of the advance guard of a body of more than the selected their claims and proposed to a them with Winchester rifles against comers.

It contained 75 varieties of rotes, among them some especially rare varieties. There were several large and exquisite specimens of Cherokee roses, Papa Gontiers and Mme. Bravys. Among the other special exhibits brought in were splendid collections by Mr. M. Rosenbaum of Pasadena, Mrs. A. Strauss of Los Angeles, Mrs. D. Murphy of Boyle Heights, Mrs. Batcheler of Fruitland and Mrs. Kerckhoff of Los Angeles. When the banks were renewed they easily eclipsed the displays of the previous Alhambra's garden of Lindaraxa is probably the most perfect photograph taken of the booths. The romantic garden is a dream of loveliness in the picture.

There was not a booth in the hall-which was not renewed yesterday. The result was seen in their brilliant appearance last night.

Several hundred persons have signed their names in the great register. The number of persons who hunt up this modest little booth increases every day. Two of the young ladies in attendance at the wildflower booth yesterday went out to the Arroyo Seco and brought in a handsome addition to their grass covered bower.

The Duarte windmill was renewed with a beautiful collection of roses yesterday. the banks were renewed they easily eclipsed the displays of the previous days of the festival. The rose gates were freshened, and those on the northern horseshoe were replaced entirely, in lovely designs. One can readily agree with the poetic fancy which has designated the rose as the queen of the flowers, while looking at the delicate beauty of the rose banks at the festival. It was not only in them, however, that the labor of the conscientious workers was seen. Scarcely a booth in the hall but yesterday.

The bevy of ladies in the confectionery booth attracted a responsive throng last night, so much so that it was remarked that nearly every gentleman in the hall had a well developed sweet tooth conscientious workers was seen. Philharmonic booth was beautified by the addition of a lovely collection of red geraniums, which were banked on the upper portion of the booth in an effective manner. The columns supporting the roof were also renewed and the striking roof of calla lilies was almost entirely renewed. The modest but fragrant and handsome wild-flower booth was rendered doubly attractive by the contributions received. The Whittier Quakersses, in spite of their veiled lids, succeeded in eliciting renewed exclamations of delight over their exhibit. The flowers were nearly all replaced in their booth, and the Quaker bonnet and hat, which have been so much admired, were changed. The bonnet was made yesterday of rose geraniums and ivy-geranium trimmings, while the daisies of the hat were all renewed. A mammoth star of bronzed magnolia leaves forms a background for the booth, which, in the electric light at night, is a brilliant sight. In short, all the booths were much improved yesterday. The attendance during the day was fair. THE KINDERGARTEN CORNER.

One of the pleasantest features of the festival is the kindergarten school. the festival is the kindergarten school. Their exercises always attract a large audience, and the children sustain the interest, no one leaving their corner as long as the little order are going through their lessons. The idea of giving this noble charity a place in the festival was a good one, and will attract attention to the plans of the Kindergarten Society more than columns of articles about them. The children who come to the kindergarten on Sainsevain street are collected from that part of the city. They are not the children of the affluent, but their chubby faces are as bright and their voices assweet as if they had the comforts and luxuries of the rich. The Kindergarten Society has been obliged their voices as sweet as if they had the comforts and luxuries of the rich. The Kindergarten Society has been obliged to go slow on account of lack of funds, but the entering wedge has been made and the establishment of free kindergarten schools throughout the city will go forward as rapidly as the ladies secure funds. It is well known, of course, that the children who attend these schools are little tots, who are not large enough to attend the public schools. Their minds and hands are trained together by object lessons and various devices. They cut papers into different suggestive shapes and prick patterns, and the teachers instruct them with infinite patience and gentleness. Yesterday afternoon the little ones stood in a circle and sang pretty childish songs. The songs were accompanied with appropriate gestures. It was amusing to see the interest with which they threw themselves into the exercises and the readiness with which they threw themselves into the exercises and the readiness with which they remembered the words of the different songs. The songs are all written to fix different objects and names in the minds of the children. Quite a number of the paper patterns and objects wrought by the little people are on exhibition at the festival.

There was not only no falling off, but an increase over the preceding nights, and the musical programme was greatly enjoyed. The first number was a song by Miss Kate Fleming—"Let Me Love Thee." Her clear and powerful voice rose above the confusion, and commanded generous applause at the conclusion of the sweet song. She was followed by Prof. Fred Borneman, who sang a ballad and received a hearty encore. The next number was a song by Mrs. Wenger, and her selection, prettily rendered, was "Hearest Thou." The musical gem of the evening was the "Miserere" by Mrs. Mamie Perry-Davis and Sig. Modini. It received an enthusiastic encore. Sig. Modini sang behind the scenes, but his powerful tenor was clearly heard in the remotest parts of the hall. Pearlie Gleason. Pearlie Straube and Robbie Burns danced the "Lorne Reel" in fine style in costume to the droning of the pipes. Early yesterday morning a young Spanish or French woman called at Orr & Sutch's undertaking establishment and said that she wished to purchase a coffin for an infant about 8 days old. As it is a common practice for persons to buy cof-fins in this manner, without employins in this manner, without employing the undertakers to attend to the burial, the coffin was sold, and the woman took it away with her in a buggy. Nothing was thought about the matter until the woman came back to see about getting a burial permit. It appears that the woman went to the Catholic Cemetery to have the baby buried, but this was refused, unless the proper certificate could be shown, and the woman was referred to Health Officer MacGowan. The woman said that the child had died at No. 12 Aliso road, but refused to tell anything about it, saying it was a secret. Dr. MacGowan then refused to issue a certificate, and telephoned Dr. Choate, and asked him to make an investigation. Dr. Choate at once went to No. 12 Aliso road, where he met a man, who denied that any child had been buried from that place. The Doctor insisted that something of the sort had occurred, when the man invited him to come into the house and showed him another infant, that more resemble 1 a corpse than a living child, and apparently three or four months old. The man said that a child had left the house that morning, but that it had walked to the buggy and consequently could not have been dead. Getting no satisfaction at the house Dr. Choate went to the cemetery, where he found the young woman who had purchased the coffin, accompanied by an old Spanish woman, up in a lot of weeds on the hillside. They had the coffin with them and when the Doctor asked them if they wished to have it buried, they said that they did. The young woman said that she was the daughter of Mme. Duran, and that she lived at No. 12 Aliso street, but she positively refused to tell anything about the infant, saying that it was a secret. Pursuant to his instructions, which were, if anything suspicious was discovered about the case, to report it to Coroner Meredith. Dr. Choate notified that gentleman, who had the body removed to Orr & Sutch's, where the Doctor made a post mortem last night. The body was that of a male infant 3 or 4 months old. It was merely wrapped up in a piece of striped cotton cloth, and had on a single gown or shirt. The corpse was very much emaciated; in fact, it was a perfect picture of starvation. There are a number of very suspicious circumstances connected with the case. In the first place, it was only a short distance to the medical college and free dispensary, and if there had been any desire to try and save the child's life it could have received medical attention without cost. Then the manner in which the parties attempted to get it buried without a certificate and the denial that any death had occurred in the house look bad. The inquest will be held today, when some light may be thrown on the matter which may lead to the discovery of the parentage of the child. At any rate, it is more than likely that the police authorities will have an investigation, and if there has been anything criminal the guilty parties will be brought to justice. A Passenger Train Runs Into a Work Train.

Quite a serious accident took place Thursday evening near Florence on the Santa Ana line of the Southern Pacific. It seems that the passenger train which left this city at 5 o'clock had just pulled out of Florence when the engineer acticed a work train just ahead of him on its way to Los Angeles. He put on the airbrakes, but he was too late, and his engine struck the work train, which was pulling into a switch, about midways. Three of the flat cars were thrown from the track and the passengers were considerably shaken up, but no further damage was done. The engineer says that had they not struck the work train he would have run off the open switch and a number of people would have been killed. Those in charge of the working train are blamed for the wreck.

An Expedition to Explore Central America.

An Indiana Journalist to Lead an Exploring Party Through the Wilds of That Country.

A Journey Which Promises Rich Returns to Both Science

A Brief Resume of the Expedition Who Will Compose It, and What It Intends to Do.

THE TIMES TO BE REPRESENTED

The Associated Press dispatches have already given to the world an intimation of the Scientific Exploring Expedition to Central America, which this country on the first of May, nder the management of Mr. A. The Los ANGELES IMES being a member of the press yndicate for whose benefit the expediion was formed, it is appropriate for s to give the details of this important terprise, which will be inaugurated such favorable auspices, with such rich promises of valuable

The leader of the expedition is the editor of the Evansville (Ind.) Pribune, and from his journal is gathed the following extremely interes

MARY OF THE WORK TO BE DONE There are few parts of the civilized world so little known to the general reader as Central America. The plans for the expedition were first inaugurated ast December, while the syndicate was an idea first suggested to him by the New York Sun, in order that the seavy expenses to be necessarily incurred would be shared by a number instead of one paper, as was the original intention. He proceeded cautiously and secretly with the scheme, knowing the uncertainties which surrounded such a stupendous undertaking, but feeling a confidence in its success, if all of its atrongest features knowing the uncertainties which surrounded such a stupendous undertaking, but feeling a confidence in its success, if all of its strongest features were brought to the attention of some of the great metropolitan dailies. He carefully prepared the data of the proposed expedition, pointed out the inaccuracies of present histories of that section, demonstrated the feasibility of his plans, prepared maps of the proposed journey and urged his scheme with such zeal and perseverance, that his arguments were irresistible, and the newspapers which have signed contracts in the syndicate are sufficient evidence of the success he had schieved. They embrace such papers as the Louisville Courier-Journal, New York Sun, Philadelphia Ledger and St. Louis Republic. The character and prominence of these great journals is a guarantee that all necessary impetus will be given to the enterprise to insure its success. [The Los Angelles Times has been admitted to the syndicate on a plane with the journals named above.]

will consist of Mr. Miller as manager, Prof. Thomas Darragh, naturalist and taxidermist, Prof. J. Roy Brown, geologist and antiquarian, and Mr. William H. Venable of Atlanta, Ga. They will be joined at Belize, British Honduras, by Thomas H. Ross, who precedes the expedition to make certain preliminary arrangements.

expedition to make certain preliminary arrangements.

Though the expedition starts out with the purpose of general exploration and observation, one of its primary objects is to visit those portions of the five republics which are comparatively or totally unknown to the outside world. Strange as it may seem, there are many sections of this country almost at the very door of the Great Republic as completely unknown to us as the mysterious interior of Africa. There are tribes inhabiting of which we have only a traditional or legendary knowledge, while the territory they occupy is a comparative blank even to the governments who exercise nominal jurisdiction over them. To penetrate this country and bring forth its secrets is therefore the firm resolution of the present expedition. The chief avenue for accomplishing this result is the Rio Wanks, one of the largest Central American streams, which empties into the Caribbean near Cape Gracios a Dios (Praise God Cape) and where Columbus gained the first sight of the New World. Yet, singular as it may seem, the first mainland discovered by the great navigator remains the last to become known to the balance of the world. But THE FIRST OBJECTIVE FOINT of the expedition is Livingston, Guatemala, where they will disembark for a journey of 300 miles to Lake Peten, around which are numerous which are they will applicate the contraction of an angient civilization, which are the statements of an angient civilization which are the statements of an angient civilization which are the statements of an angient civilization.

The Ah Tra states that they invaded Yucatan in the fifth century, and founded Mayapan, which has been identified as the present ruins of Palidentified as the founded Mayapan, which has been identified as the present ruins of Palenque. From thence they have moved gradually southward, finally building a great city upon an island in Lake Peten, where they were subsequently amalgamated with other tribes. This island has never been explored, and the contents of this buried city only casually known to archeologist. It is for the purpose of UMEARTHING SOME OF THE SECRETS of this ancient city, that the expedition will first proceed to Lake Peten. From here they go to Santa Cruz del Quiche of this ancient city, that the expedition will first proceed to Lake Peten. From here they go to Santa Cruz del Quiche or Utatian, the ancient capital of the Quiches, which has been in ruins over 850 years. They were partially explored by Stephens and Catherwood in 1841, but since that time they have remained undisturbed, except an imperfect investigation by the Guatemaian Government. Some of the largest idols found in Spanish America, were obtained from these ruins. From thence the exploring party proceed southward through the volcanic region of Salvador. They will especially visit the volcano of Izalco, in the Department of Sonsonante. This volcano was formed less than 100 years ago, in the midst of what was then an almost level plain. It was in a state of eruption in 1841, when visited by Stephens, and since that time no effort has been made to explore its hidden recesses. It has been inactive since 1883, and the present conditions are very favorable for scientific investigation. After visiting the Hot Springs of San Vicente, they will proceed up the Rio Lempe into Honduras, for the purpose of exploring said to emit blood. This cavern is one of vast extent, but has never been fully explored, and the natives-stand in religious awe of its marvelous characteristics. The philosophy of the dripping blood can be easily explained as the secretions of vampire bats, but the cavern holds many other secrets, which will yield to scientific exploration.

The party will then cross Honduras, by way of its capital, Tegucigalpa, and going through the great gold districts of Oiancho, proceed at once to the mouth of the Bio Wanks, where boats will be in readiness for them to go up that stream in search of its source.

The theories regarding the Rio Wanks is that it rises within 50 miles of the Pacific, and that for the upper half of i.s course it flows among high mountains and is obstructed by cataracts and shallows. It is sections of the new world. A powerful company of capitalists are ready to invest in the enterprise so soon as the feasibility of the plan can be demonstrated by exploration.

The chief impediment heretofore has been the warfike tribes of that locality, who have long maintained an undisputed kingdom and have stubbornly resisted all efforts to penetrate the mysteries of their great river. They consist of subject to the Mosquito King, one, the original Indians and the other a mixture of those and negroes, called Sambos.

The recent death of their cruel and stubborn King, who was always untificiently to foreigners, removes the chief obstacle to exploration and has stimulated the present expedition, the results of which promise important things both to science and commerce. If unsuccessful in reaching the headwaters of the Wanks, the exploring party at least expect some important results in ornithological and zoological studies, if not important contributions to the theories of the origin of the American races, as the secrets of this region so long guarded might reveal some startling things bearing upon prehistoric peoples.

From some point along the course of this stream, if not at its headwaters, the expedition will jected canal. This great enterprise is just now attracting much attention in the United States by reason of the failure of the scheme of De Lesseps at Panama.

The application for a charter for this waterway indicates that its projectors anticipate the entire failure of the Panama undertaking. The incorporators are men who have given careful study to the subject of an interoceanic canal and have watched with deep interest the progress made by De Lesseps. Of the possibilities of their own route they are thoroughly well informed, but as long as it was probable or .even possible that a tide-level waterway could be CUT THROUGH THE PANAMA ISTHMUS CUT THROUGH THE PANAMA ISTHMUS they were not foolish enough to invest money in a competing waterway which would labor under the disadvantage of would labor under the disadvantage of costly lockage. There is plenty of capital ready to embark in the Nicaragua undertaking, provided there is no danger of a competitor that can carry the world's commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific with greater speed and at less cost. The only danger in this direction arises from the possibility of the completion of the Panams Canal.

From the interest awakened in this project, Mr. Miller's expedition will devote considerable time to gathering numerous facts regarding this immediate locality, the country through which it will run, and the people who are to share its destiny.

Another advantage to be derived from this expedition is in the promotion of the sentiment in favor of the CONGRESS OF AMERICAN NATIONS merce of the United States, and greatly to the interest of this Republic in many other ways, as we have long been robbed of their trade through the more liberal policies of. European nations. It is therefore decidedly to the interest of the people of the United States to cultivate more friendly relations with them and endeavor through the work of this congress to regain a trade which is legitimately ours. If a careful canvass of the public sentiment of those countries is obtained, by actual contact with the people, it can be readily seen that many inimical sentiments to the congress can be removed by timely suggestions and action. This subject will be carefully investigated by the expedition and the results of their observations embodied in the correspondence to be sent to the syndicate for publication. In this way the labors of the exploring party can be of incalculable benefit to

THE COMMERCE OF OUR OWN COUNTRY This congress is to be held next Octo-ber, and to aid in its promotion an organization of merchants has just been formed in New York, as a general bureau of information, for those interested in the trade of the Spanish-American countries. There is no doubt that the absence of this concerted action heretofore, and the studying of the wants and requirements of our southern neighbors, has been the most prolific cause of our loss of that trade. They should be shown that we can make what they want. We need more speedy communication with them, more regular and direct banking facilities between these countries and our own, as well as to bring our manufacturers in direct contact with them. We must have a market for our surplus products, for large as our market is, we can today produce far more than it can consume. The logical outlet for this surplus is the vast consuming countries south of us, which are nearer and dearer to us than the balance of the world. More than this, the Central American republics are now prepared to act in concert, as by a TREATY OF THE FIVE NATIONS. signed at San José, Costa Rica, on February 16th last, they entered into ruary 16th last, they entered into a bond of peace and friendship, which is the preliminary step for a union and confederacy of them sale. This was one of the great ambitions of the late President Barrios of Guatemala, who was killed while trying to bring it about by force. What this expedition can accomplish in arriving at the exact state of public sentiment in the republics and reflecting it through the columns of our great dailies is immeasurable, and they should be, and no doubt will be, materially aided in their efforts by the Secretary of State.

A Batch of Hard Cases Disposed

"A man's a man for a' that." quote Justice Stanton in the Police yesterday, as he sentenced John King to pay a fine of $30 or be confined in jail for 30 days, with the privilege of leaving town in 24 hours. His Honor gave King no reprimand, although the charge against him was vagrancy, but the culprit owned up to it, and it took him just two hops and a jump to get out of the courtroom. Charley Miller, another unfortunate belonging to the "busted" class, pleaded guilty. He will be sentenced next Friday.

FESTIVAL OF FLOWERS.

Notes and Personals

Flowers of all kinds came in with a rush at the Flower Festival yesterday. Those which had dropped were re-placed, and the exhibits were largely increased. Especially was this the case in the rose banks. There were so many special exhibits of roses brought in that Mrs. Burnham, who was in charge, had almost more than tle ones stood in a circle and sang pretty childish songs. The songs were accompanied with appropriate gestures. It was amusing to see the interest with which they threw themselves into the exercises and the readiness with which they remembered the words of the different songs. The songs are all written to fix different objects and names in the minds of the children. Quite a number of the paper patterns and objects wrought by the little people are on exhibition at the festival.

Philharmonic booth was beautified by the addition of a lovely collection of red geraniums, which were banked on the upper portion of the booth in an effective manner. The columns supporting the roof were also renewed and the striking roof of calla lilies was almost entirely renewed. The modest but fragrant and handsome wild-flower booth was rendered doubly attractive by the contributions received. The Whittier Quakersses, in spite of their veiled lids, succeeded in eliciting renewed exclamations of delight over their exhibit. The flowers were nearly all replaced in their booth, and the Quaker bonnet and hat, which have been so much admired, were changed. The bonnet was made yesterday of rose geraniums and ivy-geranium trimmings, while the daisies of the hat were all renewed. A mammoth star of bronzed magnolia leaves forms a background for the booth, which, in the electric light at night, is a brilliant sight. In short, all the booths were much improved yesterday. The attendance during the day was fair. College, corner of Hope and Eighth streets. Rev. W. J. Chichester. pastor. The Sunday-school will hold its Easter services tomorrow marabases 330. 9:30.

There was a large audience at the festival last night. There was not only no falling off, but an increase over the preceding nights, and the musical programme was greatly enjoyed. The first number was a song by Miss Kate Fleming—"Let Me Love Thee." Her clear and powerful voice rose above the confusion, and commanded generous applause at the conclusion of the sweet song. She was followed by Prof. Fred Borneman, who sang a ballad and received a hearty encore. The next number was a song by Mrs. Wenger, and her selection, prettily rendered, was "Hearest Thou." The musical gem of the evening was the "Miserder" by Mrs. Mamie Perry-Davis and Sig. Modini. It received an enthusiastic encore. Sig. Modini sang behind the scenes, but his powerful tenor was clearly heard in the remotest parts of the hall. Pearlie Gleason. Pearlie Straube and Robbie Burns danced the "Lorne Reel" in fine style in costume to the droning of the pipes. The entertainment concluded with the beautiful May pole dance, in which 14 little girls took part, led by Pearlie Gleason. It was not a very long programme, but excellent throughout.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Mrs. R. M. Widney provided the lunch yesterday, and it was both generous in quantity and first-class in quality.

There are over two hundred varieerous in quantity and first-class in quality.

There are over two hundred varieties of roses in the rose banks.

The Philharmonic booth was beautified last night with several handsome floral pieces, among them being a banjo of pelagoniums and roses, a lyre of roses and smilax, a guitar of gerantums and a cornet of rosebuds. They are beautifully executed and the work of Miss Elma Payne; a young-lady only 15 years of age.

The Whittier booth added two hand-The Whittier booth added two hand-some Quakeresses yesterday to its corps of workers—Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Hattie Hunt of Whittier. Mrs. Bailey, who is in charge of the Whittier booth, will return from that city Monday. The Kindergarten children go through their exercises from 2 to 4 o'clock each afternoon.

A great many people take lists of the varieties of roses displayed. It forms quite a book before completed.

Alhambra's garden of Lindaraxa is probably the most perfect photograph taken of the booths. The romantic carden is a dyram of local local taken in the control of the c brought in that Mrs. Burnham, who was in charge, had almost more than she knew what to do with. A beautiful and varied special exhibit from Mrs. J. Gibbs of Vernon was particularly noticeable. It contained 75 varieties of roses, among them some especially rare varieties. There were several large and exquisite specimens of Cherokee roses, Papa Gontiers and Mme. Bravys. Among the other special exhibits brought in were splendid collections by Mr. M. Rosenbaum of Pasadena, Mrs. A. Strauss of Los Angeles, Mrs. D. Murphy of Boyle Heights, Mrs. Batcheler of Fruitland and Mrs. Kerckhoff of Los Angeles. When the banks were renewed they easily eclipsed the displays of the previous days of the festival. The rose gates were freshened, and those on the northern horseshoe were replaced entrely, in lovely designs. One can readily agree with the poetic fancy which has designated the rose as the queen of the flowers, while looking at the delicate beauty of the rose banks at the festival. It was not only in them, however, that the labor of the conscientious workers was seen. Scarcely a booth in the hall but showed some new design, and a thorough replacement of the flowers probably the most perfect photograph taken of the booths. The romantic garden is a dream of loveliness in the picture.

There was not a booth in the hall which was not renewed yesterday. The result was seen in their brilliant appearance last night.

Several hundred persons have signed their names in the great register. The number of persons who hunt up this modest little booth increases every day.

Two of the young ladies in attendance at the wildflower booth yesterday went out to the Arroyo Seco and brought in a handsome addition to their grass covered bower.

The Duarte windmill was renewed with a beautiful collection of roses yesterday.

The bevy of ladies in the confectionery booth attracted a responsive throng last night, so much so that it was remarked that nearly every gentleman in the hall had a well developed sweet tooth.

THE OLD FAKE.

A Marriage Bureau in This City There are numerous cranks, both male and female, in this country who have no confidence in themselves when it comes to taking a life partner. They are always anxious to get marthe festival is the kindergarten school. Their exercises always attract a large audience, and the children sustain the interest, no one having their corner as long as the little ores are going through their lessons. The idea of giving this noble charity a place in the festival was a good one, and will attract attention to the plans of the Kindergarten Society more than columns of articles about them. The children who come to the kindergarten on Sainsevain street are collected from that part of the city. They are ried, but they imagine that they can-not pick out a husband or wife without the assistance of some sharper or advertising fakir. Gulls are plentiful in all large cities and confidence workers are not slow in hunting them down, and when they once get the poor fly in their web it takes them but a mighty short time to suck the blood from their bodies.

ten on Sainsevain street are collected from that part of the city. They are not the children of the affluent, but their chubby faces are as bright and their voices as sweet as if they had the comforts and luxuries of the rich. The Kindergarten Society has been obliged to go slow on account of lack of funds, but the entering wedge has been made and the establishment of free kindergarten schools throughout the city will go forward as rapidly as the ladies secure funds. It is well known, of course, that the children who attend these schools are little tots, who are not large enough to attend the public A marriage bureau has recently been established in this city, and from general appearances numerous cranks will be made happy or some-thing else. I am an elderly lady, live all alone, and my patrons cailing here need have no fears of publicity. I do not introduce persons unless I think they will be congenial, or in other words that they are magnetically mated. To, all those who are really in earnest in this matter, it is necessary to call in person, and then I take; a full description of the person they want that is as to age, complexion, etc. If people are properly mated the marriage relations will be happy. In the way I am conducting this business it will be a blessing to humanity. I don't think any of my customers will have to patronize "the divorce court." After I introduce a couple, if they fall to make a match, they must let me know, and I continue trying until I get them suited without paying any more, and in all cases I do my best to give satisfaction to my patrons. A MYSTERIOUS CHILD.

THE LITTLE SAN DIEGO BABY DIES OF STARVATION.

Mourners - A Little Coffin Purchased on the Sly-Weeping in Post Mortem Last Night.

A very mysterious case developerated as which calls for an imme esterday, which calls for an imme-ate and rigid investigation by the uthorities. Early yesterday morning young Spanish or French woman alled at Orr & Sutch's undertaking stablishment and said that she wished to purchase a coffin for an inant about 8 days old. As it is a common practice for persons to buy cof-fins in this manner, without employ-ing the undertakers to attend to the burial, the coffin was sold, and the woman took it away with her in a buggy. Nothing was thought about the matter until the woman came woman took it away with her in a buggy. Nothing was thought about it he matter until the woman came back to see about getting a burial permit. It appears that the woman went to the Catholic Cemetery to have the baby buried, but this was refused, unless the proper certificate could be shown, and the woman was referred to Health Officer MacGowan. The woman said that the child had died at No. 12 Aliso road, but refused to tell anything about it, saying it was a secret. Dr. MacGowan then refused to issue a certificate, and telephoned Dr. Choate, and asked him to make an investigation. Dr. Choate at once went to No. 12 Aliso road, where he met a man,who denied that any child had been buried from that place. The Doctor insisted that something of the sort had occurred, when the man invited him to come into the house and showed him another infant, that more resembled a corpse than a living child, and apparently three or four months old. The man said that a child had left the house that morning, but that it had walked to the buggy and consequently could not have been dead. Getting no satisfaction at the house Dr. Choate went to the cemetery, where he found the young woman who had purchased the construction.

In protest of M. F. O'Dea et al. against the grading of Eleventh street, between the call against the grading of Eleventh streets, it was recommended that action be deferred to the City Engineer to see whether proper frontage is represented.

On pretist of D. F. Donegan et al. against the paying for the paying of the intersection of Court House and Fort streets, it was recommended that action be deferred one week.

On petition of C. S. Miles et al. asking that the grade of Teed street be established, it was recommended that the same be granted and the City Engineer be instructed to established it was recommended that the same be granted on Olive street, between Second and Third streets, where seen the paying of the intersection of Court House and for the same be granted to the street on the first of the first of the satisfaction at the house Dr. Choate went to the cemetery, where he found the young woman who had purchased the coffin, accompanied by an old Spanish woman, up in a lot of weeds on the hillside. They had the coffin with them and when the Doctor asked them if they wished to have it buried, they said that they did. The young woman said that she was the daughter of Mme Duran and that she woman said that she was the daughter of Mme. Duran, and that she lived at No. 12 Aliso street, but she positively refused to tell anything about the infant, saying that it was a secret. The Doctor then told her about calling at the place, and the denial that any child had died there. The woman refused to say anything beyond the fact that the man's name was Bill, but she said that she had forgotten his last name. She said that her mother was dead. The woman objected to the Doctor examining the baby, saying that it was very offensive, so much so that they had been unable to dress it.

Pursuant to his instructions, which were, if anything suspicious was discovered about its second of the said that second of the said that they had been unable to dress it.

Pursuant to his instructions, which were, if anything suspicious was discovered about the case, to report it to Coroner Meredith. Dr. Choate notified that gentleman, who had the body removed to Orr & Sutch's, where the Doctor made a post mortem last night. The body was that of a male infant 3 or 4 months old. It was merely wrapped up in a piece of striped cotton cloth, and had on a single gown or shirt. The corpse was very much emaciated; in fact, it was a perfect picture of starvation. The post mortem showed that it had died of inanition. There was some slight inflammation of the lower intestines, but not sufficient to cause death, and nothing to show that there had been any violence.

rom general appearances numerous ranks will be made happy or something else. The following letter was sent to a prominent bachelor the other day by the boss of the marriage shop:

Flores, at the corner of Upper Main street and Bellevue avenue, who took the child. The old woman paid $15, and said that the parents would make provision for its care in the future. When the Times reporter called on Mrs. Flores, some days later, she had not received any further remittances, and was considerably exercised about what to do with the child. It seems that she kept it some time, when she turned it over to the Aliso-street people, who have received $15 since that time. The old Spanish woman absolutely refuses to say anything about the parentage of the child, but it is supposed to be the offspring of some young woman in San Diego, who took this means of hiding her shame, as the child was only a few hours old when it was brought to Los Angeles.

There are a number of very suspicious circumstances connected with the case. In the first place, it was only a short distance to the

There are a number of very suspicious circumstances connected with the case. In the first place, it was only a short distance to the medical college and free dispensary, and if there had been any desire to try and save the child's life it could have received medical attention without cost. Then the manner in which the parties attempted to get it buried without a certificate and the denial that any death had occurred in the house look bad. The inquest will be held today, when some light may be thrown on the matter which may lead to the discovery of the parentage of the child. At any rate, it is more than likely that the police authorities will have an investigation, and if there has been anything criminal the guilty parties will be brought to justice.

An Injured Husband Supposed to Have Committed Suicide. San Pedro was considerably stirred up yesterday over a supposed suicide, growing out of family troubles. Capt. Kunen, a well-known fisherman and sailor, who has been absent for sevsailor, who has been absent for several weeks on his schooner, on a fishing expedition up the coast, returned home rather unexpectedly, and discovered evidence of his wife's infidelity. There was a stormy scene between the couple, which culminated in Kunen taking his little daughter and leaving the house. His wife followed him, and succeeded in again getting possession of the child, when Kunen left, and has not since been seen. From some reason the people thought that he had committed suicide by drowning, and yesterday they were dragging the bay for the body. A gentleman who resides at San Pedro came up yesterday, and reported the above facts to Coroner Meredith, telling him that he would be notified as soon as the body wus found. Up to a late hour last night nothing more had been heard about the affair.

It seems that the passenger train which left this city at 5 o'clock had just pulled out of Florence when the engineer acticed a work train just had just pulled out of Florence when the engineer soticed a work train just ahead of him on its way to Los Angeles. He put on the airbrakes, but he was too late, and his engine struck the work train, which was pulling into a switch, about midways. Three of the flat cars were thrown from the track and the passengers were considerably shaken up, but no further damage was done. The engineer says that had they not struck the work train he would have run off the open switch and a number of people would have been killed. Those in charge of the working train are blamed for the wreck.

AMERICA'S "DARK CONTINENT."

On or about the 1st of May a unique and important Scientific Exploring Expedition, organized by an Indiana ournalist for journalistic objects, will eave New York for Central America, to be absent six months or more in the exploration of the terra incognita of that quarter of the American continent. THE TIMES will be represented in the expedition, and has contracted with the leader for a series of letters. at intervals of a fortnight or so, descriptive of the interesting discoveries that will doubtless be made by the party. These letters cannot fail to be of exceptional and peculiar interest. A comprehensive outline of the expedition and its objects is printed in other columns of THE TIMES this morning.

ICAN STATES.

An organization has already been formed in New York to secure the extensive trade with Mexico, Central and Southern America, which is expected to be opened up by the pro-posed conference of American nations at Washington, in the fall. It is called the American Export and Trading Company, and, to judge from the liter-ature which it is disseminating, this corporation contemplates a very extensive sphere of activity. It is evident that it proposes to take charge, if it can, of all the trade which may arise between the United States and the countries indicated. It may be that the object aimed at is to form sort of East India Company, or Alaska

Fur Company.

It will be a disgraceful thing for Pacific Coast merchants and manufac turers should they permit an Eastern corporation to take away from them the trade of a section which Nature The article in yesterday's Trom-sone, entitled "Boodle," etc., is des-cerately silly. The course of both Times and the Trombone, in should not control the trade of the Pacific Coast, from Alaska to Cape Horn. as well as of Japan, China and Australia and the islands. It will be re membered that in 1884 a commission was appointed by Congress to investi gate the general subject of trade with the Spanish-American States. The means suggested to secure such trade were concisely stated as follows:

 Regular and direct steamship communication.
 Commercial treaties with actual and equivalent reciprocal concessions in tariff duties. 8. A simplification and modification of

4. The increase and improvement of the Consular service.

5. A more intimate knowledge am American manufacturers of the wants the people.

6. A system of banking connections and a common standard of values.

7. More liberal credits by our merchants.

8. Introduction of bonded warehouse system in these countries.

These are points which our business men should carefully study. It is time for California to shake off the speculative fever which has hung over it since 1849, and to take that position in the commerce of the world which its geographical position and fertile

BIG CROPS.

Everything seems to promise that List will be a very prosperous year for California. The crop reports from all sections of the State are encouraging in the highest degree; from one end of California to the other, the news is uniformly good. The next three weeks will be critical ones to the farmer, but grain is remarkably well advanced, and the indications are all satisfactory. It is confidently expected that the largest cereal crops ever known in California will be harvested this year, some say one-third larger. This remark applies particularly to Southern California, where many relics of the real-estate boom have been buried this will be a very prosperous year for ceal-estate boom have been buried inder fields of waving grain.

nops that they have, to a great execut, ceased to discuss that feature, and are beginning to borrow trouble egarding the price which they will reitve for their grain, in view of the lavy yield. It should, however, be membered that the surplus grain is but a very small factor in the world's supply. In the case of our barley crop, which depends more on local demand, a very heavy yield may doubtless send down the price a little, but there is every prospect of large improvements being made this fall, with a consequently increased demand or feed. In this connection we would suggest that more of the farmers in this section, who raise barley, should experiment with the chevalier variety, which is largely grown in the central part of the State for brewing purposes and always commands a good price.

INFORMATION FOR OFFICE-SEEK-

Some of the fundamental principles of the Civil Service Act might just now with propriety be brought to the attention of office-seekers, many of whom appear to be very ignorant of them. Here, for instance, are a few of the provisions of that act:

them. Here, for instance, are a few of the provisions of that act:

"That no person in the public service is for that reason under any obligation to contribute to any political fund or to render any political service, and that he will not be removed or be otherwise prejudiced for refusing so to do.

"That no person in said service has any right to use his official authority or influence to coerce the political action of any person or body.

"That no person habitually using to excess intoxicating beverages shall be appointed or retained in office.

"That no recommendation of any person who shall apply for office under the provisions of this act which may be given by any Senator or member of the House of Representatives, except as to the character or residence of the applicant, shall be received or considered by any person concerned in making any examination or appointment under this act.

"No officer or employé of the United States mentioned in this act shall discharge or degrade or in any manner change the official rank of any other officer or employé, or promise or threaten to do so, for giving or withholding or neglecting to make any contribution of money, or other valuable thing, for any political purpose.

"That the violatior of most of the provisions here indicated is declared to be a misdemeanor punishable by possibly a $5000 fine and by a possible imprisonment of three years."

The provision regarding recommendations by Senators and Congress men, especially, will doubtless be in the nature of a novelty to many. Were this provision to be strictly construed, it would produce discomfor among many prominent and worthy people at Washington.

THE OKLAHOMA EXCITEMENT.

The Oklahoma fever has evidently hit them hard, even in the neighborhood of the National Capital. The Washington Star moralizes thusly on the rush from that section to the new El Dorado. The Star's remarks will apply with still greater force to those who leave California for new booms of who leave California for new booms of this description:

Perhaps the most astonishing of many recent developments of human perversity is the number of persons from this neighborhood who are making preparations to migrate to Oklahoma, at heavy expense and with a fair prospect of finding two, three or four claimants to every decent acre of soil in the Territory, when fair farming land and a healthful, well-wooded and watered country of charmingly diversified surface is to be found right at home in the neighboring States of Maryland and Virginia. The money spent in getting to Oklahoma, paying for one's camp outfit, staking a treeless, badly watered claim, recording it and getting out a patent, carrying on a lawsuit of indefinite length, hiring a high-priced back wood surgeon to dis out the ballets which unscruptious "jumpers" and brigands have fired into one's body, and buying a ticket for the East again when all is over, would set a young man up on a first-class ranch within a hundred miles "Washington, with railroads and a market almost at his gates, cheap food and clothing, plenty of help at low wages, the comforts and pleasures of civilization within easy reach at any hour, and a fair chance of striking something rich in the mi-eral line in addition to the value of the land for agricultural purposes. The rush from the Atlantic coast to the wild West is like letting go of two birds in the hand to run after one in the bush.

IT is now believed that fully 100,000 persons will enter Oklahoma on Mon-

Scott Improving. Scott, the supposed murderer of the woman, Annie Peters, in the Alameda-street "crib" a week ago yesterday, and who afterwards shot himself in the head, continues to improve and is now almost out of danger. Yesterday he got up without assistance and walked about the room and wanted to go up to his shop on Requena street. Ever since the shooting a policeman has been on duty at the place to prevent Scott's friends getting him out of the way, but last night the officer was taken away, although, owing to some misunderstanding, no complaint has yet been sworn to, and the man has never been legally placed under arrest. Yesterday Chief Burns notified District Attorney Kelley that the officer would be removed, and suggested that some detective in his office swear out a complaint, and have Scott removed to the County Jail. Mr. Kelly, however, thinks that some of the police detectives should swear to the complaint. The authorities all believe that Scott shot the woman and then himself, but no one seems to care to take the initiative in securing a complaint against him. The officers who have been investigating the case and who were on the ground will probably swear to the complaint, under the direction of the Chief of Police, as is usual in such cases. now almost out of danger. AN OLD DOCUMENT.

What Tobacco Was Used for in Olden Times.

Before the vigilance committee was ever heard of, and before men were hung for the offense of horse-stealing, then tobacco was used as a substitute for the rope, and the Sheriff did the levying, as will be seen by a copy of an execution issued in the year 1789.

The document is in the possession of H. S. Knapp, Clerk of the Superior Court, Department No. 5 of this city. Mr. Kapp was an officer under Gen. McClellan during the war, and when the army was stationed before Yorktown a part of his regiment was quartered in the Warwick county court-house. Papers were scattered about, and Mr. Knapp secured this relic. It is the size of a note sheet, and partly printed. It reads as follows:

"George the Third. By the Grace of God of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King. Defender of the Faith, etc. To the Sheriff of York County, greeting: We command you that of the goods and chattels of Richard Crandol, late in your Balliwick, you cause to be made the sum or 10 pounds and 400 pounds of Virginia Tobacco, also 256 Pounds of tobacco, and its shillings or 150 weight of Tobacco, which William Digges, Gent, who as will for our Sovereign Lord, the King, in behalf of our country of Warwich, late in our said County Court of Warwich, late in our said County to the said Richard Crandol, for the Penalty in being the Person guilty of Horse-stealing as for his costs by him about his suit in that Behalf expended, whereof he is Convict, as appears to us, of Record. HIS SUDDEN DEPARTURE AND

During the boom a large number of quacks, fakirs and other disreputable characters drifted into the city. Everything was at high presence, and for a time these people flourished and flew high, but when things settled down their troubles commenced, and they began to drop out. They would be missed from their accustomed haunts for several days, and when inquiry was made for them the statement would be made that they had been suddenly called east on business and would return in a few days, or that they had gone to some other part of the State with a view to locating, and would return and straighten up their affairs before taking their final departure. It is but fair to say that most of the inquirers were not actuated by idle curiosity, but had more or less extensive pecuniary interests in the absentees, in the shape of bills for supplies furnished, room rent, etc.. They generally called faithfully dufill in our way or another they learned that they had been duped, when the little "LO.U."s" were charged up to profit and loss, and the victims retired to their private been duped, when the little to the were charged up to profit and loss, and the victims retired to their private offices to kick themselves for being taken in.

One of the latest cases of this characteristics of the latest cases of this characteristics and the latest cases of the characteristics of the latest cases of this characteristics.

One of the latest cases of this character is that of "Dr." Sweany, who left some weeks ago, his objective point being Seattle, Wash. Sweany came to Los Angeles something over a year ago and opened an office in the Rose block on Main street. He was a liberal advertiser, and every paper in the city had a long "ad" setting forth his merits as a healer of all the ills that man is heir to, with the alluring inducement at the bottom, "no cure, no pay." The great American people enjoy being humbugged, and although the woods were full of doctors—able, scientific men—they rushed to Sweany, and for a time he did a land-office business. In the course of his professional duties he was consulted by a man scientific men—they rushed to Sweany, and for a time he did a land-office business. In the course of his professional duties he was consulted by a man named Regan, who became one of his patients. Regan had some money, probably six or seven thousand dollare, and Sweany of course gave him his best attention. As might have been expected, under the circumstances, Regan died in due course of time, leaving a wife and one child to mourn his loss, likewise about $5000 in coin, which fell to the widow. Sweany was of a sympathetic disposition, and did what he could to console her in her great sorrow. He succeeded admirably, for in a short time the two were almost inseparable. From the Rose block he moved to the Kensington lodging-house, on Main street, where the costllest suite of apartments in the building was taken, the glass doers were gorgeously lettered, there was a consultation room, ladies and gentlemen's waiting-rooms, and all of the appurtenances and accessories of a first-class, high-toned physician. Sweany used to walk when he first came to Los Angeles, but now a double team became necessary, and almost every afternoon Sweany and Mrs. Regan could be seen riding through the principal streets. This sort of thing continued for some time, and then one fine morning, when the land-olord called for his rent, he was told by Mrs. Regan that the Doctor had gone to Seattle, but that he would remit the money in a day or two. In the meantime, she (Mrs. Regan) would keep the rooms for at least a month longer. The landlord took the bait and waited on his tenants. When the month was up he again called for his money, when the woman flatly refused to pay him a cent. There was a stormy scene and Mrs. Regan ieft. In the meantime hardly a day passed without creditors coming in with bills, which is kept up to the present time. It is said that Mrs. Regan has gone to Seattle to join the Doctor, and the friends of the lady say that he swindled her out of every cent of the $5000 left her by her late husband. Be that as it may, the popu

Mason and the 'Bone.

The 'Bone of yesterday made an uncalled-for attack on Assessor Mason's deputies. The article alleges that the deputies exceed their authority when they arrest persons who refuse to pay their poll-taxes or give their assessments. The Penal Code, section 429, settles this question, and gives the Assessor the right to prosecute any one who refuses to answer questions regarding his property. Mr. Mason was seen yesterday, and stated that the courts have convicted every person arrested at the instance of his deputies, which shows that the deputies have made no mistakes. #### THE KANSAS BOOMERS.

THEY CONTINUE TO POUR INTO THE CHEROKEE STRIP.

The Utmost Good Order Marke Their Progress-Rising Rivers Threaten to Cause Delay -Stirring Scenes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

ARKANSAS CITY (Kan.), April 19.—[By the Associated Press.] The change of date for crossing the Cherokee line by the Oklahoma settlers from the 19th (today) to yesterday (the 18th) made the number of wagons in the first batch to cross the line smaller than it would have been. Succeeding events show the change to have been a wise one. Despite the solid five miles of wagons which went into the strip yesterday, the influx during the rest of the day was enormous. Word that the movement would occur today had become widespread to the north, and many settlers who otherwise would have been here for the start remained in their camp until afternoon yesterday, so that late in the day there continued to be an almost continuous stream of wagons. Most of the afternoon arrivals camped here last night and proceeded this morning. Only a few entered the strip, for there is but one stream between here and Sait Creek Fork fit to camp on, and that is only five miles from the north line of the strip.

HIS SUDDEN DEPARTURE AND HIS CREDITORS.

Last night the Old Soldiers' Union Colony of this city held its last meeting before going into Oklahoma. The colony consists of 150 old soldiers. Of those 120 will leave on Monday to look up homesteads, each under the soldier clanse. The members will go by train. They have started a wagon train with supplies of tents and provisions, and areast sufficiently large enough to funcks, fakirs and other disreputable haracters drifted into the city. Everying was at high pressure, and for a time these people flourished and flew high, but when things settled down heir troubles commenced, and they began to drop out. LAWLESSNESS AT FURCELL.

Word was brought bere last night from Purcell, by a man who left there yesterday, that a great deal of lawlessness exists along the southern border of Oklahoma.
He said a man was "held up" in the streets of Purcell in broad daylight and robbed of $500. The boomers dety the law. They have purchased or hired every available horse in the neighborhood, and will mount and march through the Canadian River just before noon on Monday. When the signal flag drops at noon sharp, there will be A DESPERATE LAND RACE.

On the opposite bank the gamblers and toughs declare they will let no one pass a certain distance who is not one of them. The town is full of special correspondent, who are writing from imagination and arainst sacce. who are writing from langination and against space.

A sowboy from Caldwell, who arrived late last night, says the Cimarron is very high, and that up to the time he left eighteen persons had been drowned trying to ford the streams. No definite information can be learned of the drowning. At one time this morning there were over 100 wagons on the streets.

RIVERS RISING.

The Arkansas and Walnut Rivers are rising rapidly. The Walnut River has gone up 10 feet alone since morning. Congone up 10 feet alone since morning. Congressman Weaver of Iowa will arrive to night. He says he will take up a claim near Guthrie. This morning, at Chillicoco Station, 500 Texas cattle were let loose on the prairie. A train of boomers passing at the time, the cattle stampeded the cattle hitched to their wagons. The latter were mixed with the Texas cattle and lost to their owners. A man named Watson, from Sterling, Neb., in trying to preserve his outfit from the enraged cattle, was trampled under foot and badly injured.

ON THE OLD RENO TRAIL. The Advance of the Boomers from

Caldwell, Kan. CALDWELL (Kan.), April 19.—[By the Associated Press.] Two thousand campfires gitmmered along the old Reno trail last night from Caldwell to Pond Creek. Today a thousand covered wagons are slowly moving along the trail. The day was favorable, and notwithstanding the late heavy rains the trail was in very good condition. The most popular outit is a strong canvas-covered wagon, drawn by two large, stout horses, and the horses of the boomers are well looking and in good condition. Some large wagons have four or even six horses. Some barties are mounted on ponies and carry whole camp outfits behind their saddles. Some are crossing the strip in buggies.

ONE OND TURNOUT is a large, high, old-fashioned buggy, drawn by two shaggy yellow horses, with a celt hitched by its mother, and a biack cow tied behind. The driver is a woman, and she drove with one hand, while the other supported a little child. A shocky-headed youngster of 10 followed behind. The woman was a Kansas widow seeking a home in the promised land.

woman was a Kansas widow seeking a home in the promised land.

PEACEABLE BUT RESOLUTE MEN.

All stories to the contrary told notwithstanding, it does not seem that there can be any trouble among the men who are driving over the trail today. They are as fine a body as ever went into a new country. Most of them are Kansas and Nebraska farmers, and although a gun is in every wagon and across every saddlebow, the owners are men who will use them to keep the peace, and not to make trouble. Most of the wagon boomers got out of Caldwell yesterday, and this morning there were about 4000 of them. Many of them have little or no money, but almost all are well equipped for camp life.

Salt Fork, Fond Creek and all other streams in, the strip, it is thought, can be forded, although every one is very nigh. All is doubt about the chances of ferding the Cimarron, and a wagon left Caldwell last night bearing a large boat, with which the owners expect to start a ferry.

THE BOOK ISLAND'S DILEMMA.

The rush of people who will try to take the Rock Island route between today and Monday will be so great that the Rock Island Company almost despairs of being able to accommodate them. One colony of 600 will leave Wichita ton the root of creek. Heard of the possible trouble at Pond Creek. The stream of wagons continued unabated all through today. One man who lives close to the bridge line kept count of the teams passing; and up to 4 o'clock this afternoon 1158 had gone to Oklahoma.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

Vigorous Efforts to Exclude Whisky from the Territory.
ARKANSAS CITY, April 19.—[By the Associated Press.] Marshals Jones of Kansas and Needles of Indian Territory, who are in authority over Indian Territory and Oklahoma, announce that they have instructed their deputies to confiscate all liquors brought into the Territory. These instructions are based on the ruling of the Attorney-General that Oklahoma is within the limits of Indian Territory and the laws pertaining to the sale of intoxicating liquors within the Territory apply to this section. As it is impossible to get ilquor into Oklahoma without passing through the Territory, and as the laws against bringing liquor into any part of Indian Territory are very strict, those thinking of going into the Territory will save themselves much expense and trouble by abandoning their purpose. Eight companies of Infantry and four of cavalry are in the Territory to assist in enforcing the laws.

Collector Acres has accordingly started 11 deputy collectors to Guthrie. The intention is to have them on the ground in advance of the boomers, and arrange to prevent the sale of liquors.

Pawnee Bill's Party Forced to Stop and Build a Raft.

Wellington (Kan.), April 19.—[By the Associated Press.] A special to the Standard, brought by a courier to South Haven, and from there telephoned to this city, says; Pawnee Bill's colony, consisting of 300 wagons, left Hunnewell yesterday, and is now water-bound at the Sait Fork of the Arkansas, 20 miles south of that city, in the Territory. While attempting to ford a swollen and turbulent stream, a man named Freither and his horses were drowned in full view of the frightiened colonists, who were unable to render him any assistance. The sad accident demonstrated that fording was out of the question, and the whole colony is now engaged in the construction of a huge raft, upon which they hope to float over to the other side with their teams and outfits.

This afternoon a train of 485 vehicles, containing colonists bound for Oklahoma from Sait Lake Valley, Utah, and points in Colorado, passed six miles west, on their southern journey. and Build a Raft.

A TIMELY RULING.

Corporations Will Not Be Allowed to Gobble Lands.

Washington, April 19.—(By the Associated Press.) Secretary Noble today rendered a decision relative to townsites in Oklahoma as follows:

"To the Commissioner of the General Land Office: I am in receipt of your communication of the 15th inst., relative to the application of the Oklahoma Capital City Townsite and Improvement Company asking permission to locate and enter certain lands in the Guthrie and Kingfaber land districts for townsites in Indian Territory, said application having been referred by the department to your office. I concur in the view expressed by you in your said communication that there is no authority to grant the spilication of the Oklahoma Capital City Townsite and Improvement Company to enter lands as now presented, and I am also of the opinion that the provisions of the act of March 4, 1889, providing for entries of lands for townsites under sections 2378 and 2398, Revised Statutes, do not apply to corporations of this character. Although the President might have on not apply to corporations of this char-acter. Although the President might have power to reserve lands for townsite pur-poses under section 2330, Revised Statutes, such reservation could not be made for the benefit of a corporation of this character, but would be disposed of in the manner now provided by law."

Hathing has been fully inaugurated, and every day parties may be seen taking a dip in the ocean.

The wharf presents a very animated appearance every day now. Fishing is the order of the day, and all day long parties may be seen tempting the finny tribe from the waters.

Irwin & Co. have made arrangements to take the wharf in hand and complete it. They have bought a block of land on Couts street for the purpose of building warehouses; have rented Myers's building on Second street for temporary quarters, and will soon be able to make advances on consignments of grain and produce for shipment. The Temecula Granite Company will ship its stone from this point by schooner to San Francisco, and one of the first sand stone quarries in California, situated about one and one-half miles east of here will be reopened as soon as it can ship direct.

The Oceanside Coast Motor Road has a sked for a franchise to lay a track down Couts atreet to enable it to haul lumber, etc., into Oceanside, South Oceanside and Carlsbad.

Through the country crops have never looked better than just now, and the increased acreage will demand an outside market. I took a trip to Escondido and San Pascual Valley a few days ago, and the feed is the finest I ever saw in my life. Through the San Marcos and Escondido there are thousands upon thousands of acres of wild oats, as high as a man's head, and as thick as it can stand, and would furnish feed for hundreds of thousand head of stock more than there are in the county.

I see by your Associated Press dispatches head of stock more than there are in the county.

I see by your Associated Press dispatches yesterday that Chicago, Ill., Missoula, Mont., and Oceanside, Cal., have had new postmasters appointed. Now that these three large cities have been provided for in that way, the President will have time to attend to smaller places. Yours truly, immense boulders striking the engine, throwing it from the track and down a 30-foot embankment into the Gunnison River. The engine in its descent turned over several times, crushing Fireman William North to death. Engineer Ryan was caught underneath a portion of the machinery and pinioned in the bed of the river and was nearly drowned before he was rescued. He is also seriously bruised internally.

None of the coaches were thrown from the track, and on account of the roaring of the waters it w a some minutes before the passengers and crew knew of the accident.

The train was ascending the cañon at the usual speed, it is supposed that the jar of the train started some loose rocks from the top of the cafion, several hundred feet above, and these, rolling down, started others and increased in size until, when they struck the unfortunate engine, they had become a tremendous slide of huge boulders and rocks.

Big Scandal in the Minnesota

Legislature.

St. PAUL (Minn.), April 19.—[By the Associated Press.] There has been considerable bitter fighting in both houses of the Legislature for several weeks over bills relating to land grants of the Dniuth and Winnipeg Railway. Measures to confign the forfeiture of the grant for failure to fulfill charter obligations have been defeated once or twice, and local papers have charged bribery. Tonight a bill forfeiting land grants is discovered to have been mysteriously abstracted from the rooms of the House committee to which it was referred, and its friends are on the warpath. Sensational reports were afloat this afternoon to the effect that warrants were out for the arrest of 13 persons for bribery and corruption. The reports cannot be traced to an authentic source, however, and probably have no foundation. Legislature.

DUEL AND LYNCHING AT IA JUANA.

Charley Northeraft Wit ed on a Rainy Day - An Old w Who Would Not Tolto an Insult-It Grow Out of Santa Clara Mining Fake.

Mitchell has a brilliant rival field at last, in the person of Charles Northcraft. For years re the Major has had a mo in the romance-weaving field of ern California, but he now has a who is liable to cause him to himself in one of his numerous ories and die of shame.

t. Charles has just returned from ld(?) fields of Lower California, went when the boom was at here he went when the boom was at best. The Captain is well pro-ded with this world's goods, and did by have to seek fortune in a foreign and, but he is a lover of adventure, at that instinct and a mule took him the that instinct and a mule took him to the mines.

He reached Tia Juana, on the Mexican line, about the middle of March, during the big storm, and, like many others who wished to reach Santa Clara, he found the river too high to ford. There was a camp on the American side of the line, and Capt. Charley and his traveling companion housed their mules and provisions, and made a bee line for a little mescal saloon which sits square on the line. and made a bee line for a little mescal saloon which sits square on the line. The saloon is built in this way so that the proprietor can break the laws of either county, and step across the line without having to rum. Capt. Charley had no trouble in getting into society, and in the course of a few hours he was the biggest fish in the puddle. That he enjoyed himself there is no doubt. Yesterday he ran into the arms of a Times reporter, and as he was feeling pretty good, he unbosomed himself, after swearing that he is able to prove every word of his singular story. He cleared his throat three times, and started off something after this style:

A DUEL AND LYNCHING.

A DUEL AND LYNCHING.

"Soon after reaching Tia Juana I saw that there was fun in the air. It was raining like blue blazes, and the campers had nothing to do but drink mescal and talk about mines. I had not been in town long when my attention was drawn to an old doctor from one of the towns near Del Mar. The Doctor is a dignified old southerner, and any one could see at a glance that he would not stand much nonsense. He was accompanied by two big strapping fellows, who were just as jolly as a clown at a two-bit circus. They seemed to be under the Doctor's care, and he made them toe the mark, I can tell you. They did not dare speak without his permission. Well, to make A DUEL AND LYNCHING. "Soon after reaching Tia Juana I was raining like blue blazes, and the campers had nothing to do but drink mescal and talk about mines. I had not been in town long when my attention was drawn to an old doctor from one of the towns near Del Mar. The Doctor is a dignified old southerner, and any one could see at a glance that he would not stand much nonsense. He was accompanied by two big strapping fellows, who were just as jolly as a clown at a two-bit circus. They seemed to be under the Doctor's care, and he made them too the mark, I can tell you. They did not dare speak without his permission. Well, to make a long story short, the Doctor found his way to the mescal saloon, and. as he was not acquainted with the strength of that pleasant drink, he soon fell, and in a couple of no times he was razzle-dazzled to the Queen's taste. Just at this moment one of his fat charges came into the saloon, and the Doctor jumped on him with both feet. He called the young man all the names he could lay his tongue to, and when the boy could stand it no longer he slapped the old man several times square in the face. This sobered the medico to a certain extent, but when he saw the spectators laughing, his anger rose like a Kansas cyclone in a hallstorm, and before the boys knew what was up he challenged the poor orphan to mortal combat. 'No man,' said the Doctor, 'can insult me, sir, by G—, sir, and live. You must fight, sir, or I will shoot you down like a dog. Choose your weapons, sir, and meet me at the brink of yon hill, where I will await you with a friend,' and the old southern gentleman marched out of the room, followed by a San Diego sport, who had consented to be his second.

"The young man did not know what to do, but several of the boys got

"They soon secured a couple of sixshooters and about a dozen of us made our way to where the Doctor and his second were standing in the pouring rain. In a few minutes all preliminaries were arranged and the enemies were standing back to back at 10 paces. The word 'fire' was given, when both men wheeled and two reports rang out. The young man threw up both arms and fell heavily to the ground. The Doctor turned on his heel and walked slowly away, evidently well pleased with his day's work. Several men rushed to the assistance of the young man and a hasty examination was made, when it was found that he was dead. They carefully picked him up and bore him to an adobe house near the saloon. His remains were carefully placed on a bed and a sheet was placed over him.
While this sad scene was being carried out the Doctor was swelling about town boasting of what he had done.
The whole town was aroused in a very short space of time, and several officers who happened to be present heard of the affair and placed the old man under arrest. Of course there is no jail in Tia Juana, so the Doctor was placed in one of the huts and a guard put over him.

"While this was going on I noticed

THE LYNCHING.
While this was going on I noticed
le groups of men talking excitedly,
I my western instinct told me that Istle groups of men talking excitedly, and my western instinct told me that something was wrong, so I joined one of the groups, and was told that they had made up their minds to hang the Doctor, as they considered it a coldblooded murder. I did not fancy such wark and refused to have anything to do with it, but I kept my eyes and any open. In a few minutes they made a rush for the hut where the old man was confined. The officers showed signs of lighting, but they were quickly overpowered, and the Doctor was dragged forth. The old man lisplayed a great deal of grit, and I could see at a glance that he would die game. He was hurried to the house where the corpse had be en laid out, and a court was organized. Leveral witnesses were examined, and the old man was found guilty of aurder in the first degree. The Court entenced him to be hanged at once.

he soon drew up a document, which left all his property, valued at about $20,000, to his wife. 'Now,' said he, 'I am ready to die. All I have to ask of you, friends, is that you do not inform my wife that I was hanged by a gang of lynchers. Tell her that I fought a duel, and was executed by the Mexican authorities.' The men who had hold of the rope were about to yank the old man to eternity, when the corpse gave several heart-rending groans and rolled from the bed. The gang dropped the rope and rushed to his assistance, when the Doctor undid the knot and walked out of the reom, quietly remarking, 'I'm d—d sorry that I did not kill him.' I could not understand at the moment what it all meant, but I soon learned that the whole thing was a joke. The boys had extracted the bullets from the pistols, and the young man who was let into the joke played his part so well that all, including the Doctor, who were not in the secret, believed him dead. The old man left for San Diego that evening, and so far as is known he never got any nearer than Tia Juana to the mines."

PARK COMMISSIONERS. Regular Weekly Meeting Held Last

The regular weekly meeting of the Park Commission was held at the Mayor's office last night at 8 o'clock, with His Honor presiding and the full board present, although Mr. Hubbell was a little late about getting in.

Mr. Hutton stated that Thomas Joyce had donated a 12,000-gallon tank for the use of Elysian Park, and said that Messrs. Mosher & Ives would furnish all the water that was wanted at the actual cost of pumping and fuel, which would be 50 cents per hour for the engineer and the cost of the coal consumed. The tank was accepted with thanks, and the water proposition was referred to Mr. Hutton, with power to act. The Mayor also suggested that it would be a good thing for some public-spirited man to make the commission a present of a watering-cart.

The payroll of the Park Superintendent for the past two weeks was presented, and the same was ordered approved.

Bills of Burlingame for $658, for work done at the Westlake Park, were presented, and after a statement from

of the vehicles.
On motion of Dr. Bryant, the Police Commissioners were requested to ap-point Mr. Spring special policeman for Westlake Park, without pay from the Westlake Park, without pay from the city.

The bill of the State Forestry Board of $832 for 37,000 forest trees was presented, and went over for one week until the trees could be received and counted by the Superintendent.

On motion of Mr. Hubbell, the board-proceeded to the election of a superintendent, and all candidates in the room were requested to withdraw. After some discussion of the relative merits of the men, a vote was taken, and resulted in the selection of Louis Legrand, the present incumbent, who received 3 votes, to 2 for H. V. Bard, Messrs. Wicks and Hazard voting for the latter. Bard was then unanimously elected first assistant superintendent, and was allowed $30 per month to keep a horse and buggy, which will make the salary $90 per month. Richard Berry was unauimously elected second assistant, and assigned to the Sixth-street Park, while the place of third assistant was left open for emergencies. The board then fell into third assistant was left open for emergencies. The board then fell into an informal discussion, which con-tinued up to the hour of adjournment.

"The young man did not know what to do, but several of the boys got around him and convinced him that he would have to fight.

"They soon secured a couple of six-shooters and about a dozen of us made our way to where the Dector and his complaint against policeman No. 68 complaint against policeman No. 68

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous. Care Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffer-ing or hastened the breating up of the con-stitution.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened 'he breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human volce, one or unore, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and ajures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charitans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Habitoat. Cutts has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in afford me relief in all head colds, sneeding, southing and obstructed breastly as many contributions of the colds of the colds.

The purchase of the brick building and lot on Union street from the Rychange Block Company by the city Board of Trustees, for the sum of $9000, is being severly criticised by many, who think a more suitable place might have been secured at a lesser cost, but those who have "no axes to grind" think the property worth the money, which is to be paid in sewer bonds at par. The location is quite central, being immediately back of the Carlton Hotel and within two or three minutes' walk of the banks, postoffice, Santa Fé depot and the larger business blocks of the city.
